POLI'S

That the Bridgeport theatre going public are vaudeville lovers is evidenced by the great throngs that have attended Poli's this week. Well, that is easily accounted for by the fact that a great pace has been set by Mr. Poli in his opening week, and the idea has gone forth, especially after the first performance on Monday, that big bills were to be the order of things this season. And this judgment seems to be right. A great bill is underlined for next week, one of the very best. Every act is a star one and there is not a bad one on the great bill. Here is the list:

Lewis Guertin & Co., introducing the world's champion high and air around jumper; Tom and Edith Almond, novelty dancing and musical duo, dancing on ice skates, novel kangaroo dance, and special instrumental numbers; Thos. Ince & Co., farcical sketch entitled "Wise Mike"; Melville & Higgins, "Just a Little Fun"; "Circumstantial Evidence"; Harrison Armstrong's one act play; Frank Morrell, black face comedian and great tenor singer; Howard & Collison Co., London's laughter makers, in an entirely new and original sketch, entitled "A Piece of Dresden China."

Probably one of the most interesting instances of the selection of a jury was that of Mr. Armstrong, the author of the one act play "Circumstantial Evidence", which made such a pronounced hit in New York and which will receive a presentation here next week at Poli's. The story of the play is the trial of a man for murder on circumstantial evidence, and the action takes place in the jury room after the twelve good men, tried and true, have retired to deliberate. Mr. Armstrong, in selecting his cast, sent to the leading dramatic and musical agencies, telling them that he wanted twelve actors who could sing or twelve singers who could act, for his play while dealing with a question of vital interest requires both. After a week of receiving and dismissing he finally had a list of fifty to choose from, about four of each type, for he wanted his jury to look like a representative one so each member must be a different type of man. Then he sat back and sighed with relief for now he thought his trials were over. He sent notifications to all to meet him at the rehearsal hall to have their voices tried out. Of all the calls sent out only six responded and of those three were basses. That meant the same weary grind over again, till at last he had his twelve men of different types who could sing. Now came the question, could they act, but why add to the horrible details. You will be able to judge for yourself soon how well he has succeeded.

STATE WILL SPEND MILLIONS FOR ROADS

Highway Commissioner. Classifies Towns for Purpose of Receiving State Aid—Trunk Lines to Get $1,500,000 Before 1913—As Much More for Towns.

Highway Commissioner James H. Macdonald has issued a circular letter to the boards of selectmen of the towns in which he explains the operation of the new statute relating to the improvement of public roads.

The towns, for the purposes of State aid, are classified under two heads, so that each town with a grand list of more than $1,250,000 shall receive three-quarters of the cost of any highway built under the act, the town contributing but one-quarter of the cost. Towns with a smaller grand list are to pay but one-eighth and the State will pay seven-eighths.

The State assumes full payment of contractors during the progress of the work. After the improvement is made the towns pay to the State their share of the cost, which will be one-quarter or one-eighth of the total.

In determining the classification of the towns the list of the State Board of Equalization is used.

Each town is entitled to appropriate in the present year $30,000 for roads to be built under the act. If the demand created by the total sums so appropriated is more than the amount to be used by the commissioner, a pro rata distribution of the available amount will be made. The entire appropriation for the use of the towns in each year is $500,000. In addition to this there is a special trunk line fund of $1,500,000 which is to be expended before 1913. This money will be used in accordance with the importance of the work to be done in the several counties for the purpose of connecting intervals between highways already made which lie along main highways.

Any money hitherto appropriated to any town under a previous law and not used remains to the credit of that town.

The following towns in Fairfield and Litchfield counties are entitled to receive three-fourths of the cost of construction from the State:

HOUSEKEEPER SUES FAIRFIELD MAN FOR SUPPORT OF CHILD

Gertrude Brindise of Orange has brought suit in the Common Pleas Court, New Haven county, against Ezekiah R. Elwood, of Fairfield, a prominent citizen and a member of the board of selectmen of Fairfield, alleging that the defendant owes her $333 for the board and support of her child, born Jan. 1, 1907. Attorney C. H. King, counsel for Mr. Elwood, has made a statement in which he says that the action is one of pure blackmail. He says that an earlier suit was brought by Mrs. Brindise for $333, which failed and that the present suit was not brought until after the death of the child.

Daisy Leither, the Countess of Suffolk, Has Another Son

(Special from United Press.)
Beverly, Mass., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Levi Z. Leither, who has been spending the summer in Manchester, near here, today is in receipt of a cablegram saying that her daughter, the Countess of Suffolk, formerly Miss Daisy Leither, has another son. The cablegram stated that the Countess was getting along well. Mrs. Leither is getting ready to close her summer cottage and go to Scotland for a visit with her daughter.

SHIP AND 300 SOULS MAY NOT HAVE BEEN LOST

Capetown, Sept. 11.—In the faint hope that the steamer Waratah, which, with 300 passengers and crew, has been lost at sea for more than a month, may yet be afloat, the "search ship" Sabine left here today to make another search for the Waratah. Admiral Edgerton in command of the British ships here believes that the Waratah is still adrift though helpless. The Sabine has a full crew aboard, including a crew to man the searchlights.

BEAUTIFUL GIRL CHOKES TO DEATH HER RIVAL IN LOVE

(Special from United Press.)
Madrid, Sept. 11.—A dispatch today from Alhaurin De La Torre, in Malaga province, tells of the arrest there of Ana Ravera on a murder charge, the beautiful young girl having choked to death her rival in love, Antonia Morales. Ana and Antonia quarreled over the affections of a man with whom they both were in love. Antonia slapped Ana's face and in her jealous rage the latter seized Antonia by the throat and strangled her to death. There is much sympathy for the imprisoned girl and an effort is being made to ameliorate her punishment.
